Annual Christmas Party

This year we will hold our Christmas party in Grace Fellowship Hall so we can better accommodate everyone who wants to attend. Please keep this date open so you can join the fun. If you wish to help in the planning, please contact Maureen Humphries or Linda Hagberg.

December 11, 2016

Annual Business Meeting

Please make it a point to be here in Grace Fellowship Hall on this date. We will convene our annual business meeting right after the service. Dave Walker will bring us up to date on all our finances and will conduct the election of our Board of Trustees for 2017.

If you are interested in serving on the Board for 2017, please contact Maureen Humphries by November 20.

Give Away the Plate

We have a black Christmas tree set up in the Social Action Corner. Why black? Because Christmas will be very dark for children in poverty. Your donations of green $$$ from July 24 to November 13 will provide funds for the Social Action Committee to help local children who have been identified by the Salvation Army as having specific clothing needs. A shopping day will be announced in November for those who would like to participate. Thanks for providing your green to support a child!

PLEASE NOTE: The GATP collection in November will be the last chance to donate to this worthwhile project. If you would like to be part of the shopping experience, please let Maureen know. Please be generous.

WORTH AND DIGNITY by Rev. Ed Wilson

John Wayne Gacy? Hitler? Stalin? Osama Bin Laden? Saddam Hussein? Do we affirm and promote their worth and dignity? No. Do we affirm and promote their “inherent worth and dignity”? Yes. So what’s the difference? The key to understanding the first of our seven UU principles is in the word “inherent.” That word reminds us that being human brings with it embryonic worth and dignity—a status of worth and dignity—with a potential that exceeds that of any other creature. So, affirming “the inherent worth and dignity of every person” is affirming the capacity of all humans for great good and decency.

A human has capacity for worthy thoughts and actions— capacity for marvelous achievements—because she has inherent worth. A human can pursue lofty goals because he has inherent dignity. Every person has the option of utilizing the status of being human for noble ends. Sad to note, some have done the opposite, degrading their humanity to low levels, denying their own worth and dignity.

Worth and dignity exist in all humans at birth. So the universal human attributes of worth and dignity are marks of being a human. We are talking here about the essence of humanness. So, doesn’t that leave humans with some special responsibilities? And shouldn’t we UU’s do everything we can to tap into the inherent worth and dignity of every person? And should we not link with any cause or program that works to reduce the degradation that is manifested in those named above—that resists such squandering of human worth and dignity? To engage in cultivation of worth and dignity—the essence of humanity!
What a challenge! What an exciting endeavor!
